Special to the Indianapolis Journal. BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 5.-Judge Reinhard, dean of the Indiana University Law School, has announced that the summer session of the law school, which heretofore has been six weeks, will be extended to ten weeks. This extension will put the summer session on an equality with the other terms of school, and the same amount of credit will be given as for work done in other regular terms of school. By this extension students by going four terms each year can complete the law course here and receive the degree of LL. Another change which will be tried in the law department, beginning next fall term, will be to abandon all tuition in the department, as has been done in the de-partment of liberal arts, but charge a fee of $5 a term for library purposes. The free scholarships—two from each county in the State-will also be abandoned. The tuition has always been $12.50 a term.

Annual Address by the President o the National Congress.

DETROIT, Mich., May 5 .- A conference of the National Congress of Mothers began to-night in Central M. E. Church, and the sessions will continue until Friday afternoon. After the welcoming addresses Mrs. Frederic Schoff, of Philadelphia president of the national congress, made her annual address. She said: "The first duty of a mother is to take care of her children and the first and only duty of organized motherhood is to take care of the children. The mothers' congress has taken within its care the children of the world. The enactment of uniform marriage and divorce laws, the inculcation of high ideals of marriage, the insistence on equal standards of purity for men and women are al matters of vital interest to those who are striving to raise the moral standard of the community, and all these things will comwhen united womanhood demands them. "In this connection the mothers' congress looks with deepest interest and anxiety upon the situation in Utah, where, in violation of sacred pledges made to the government, plural marriages are still contracted and the moral degradation of polygamy is a blight which has already spread over adjoining States and is invillages all over the land. It is not a question to-day for Utah, it is an evil greater than slavery, and America cannot afford to remain silent while such a menace to the home is in the heart of our Nation. America must surely find a way to wipe out an evil which is a disgrace to the Nation.' C. K. Berwin, of New York, was one of the passengers on the steamer Hamilton. He said: "Fog settled down like a pall on the ocean about 7 o'clock last night. Suddenly, when we were two hours late this morning, six bells rang and I knew something was wrong. The crash came next and a grinding which made the ship shiver. Nothing had happened to our ship below. But then came the terrible sight. As I was gazing out to sea the Saginaw appeared with twenty feet of her stern torn away. So cleanly was this part cut off that I could look right into the steamer. At that time she was still afloat, but she quickly disappeared in the dense fog and sank just nineteen minutes after the crash. The first thought was for our own safety and our boats were lowered and the hull examined. When it was found that she was not injured then the captain and his crew turned toward the other boat, hoping to save some human lives. When the Hamilton circled and we again saw the steamer through the fog and mist only her two masts were showing, as she had scuttled and was resting quietly on the bottom. It was providential that the sea was quiet. Our boats brought off six-teen people, of whom four were white. The captain was lashed to the mast with one white passenger, but two of his ribs were broken. So great was the confusior that one man put life preservers on his feet, and when seen later was drowned feet up."

A CLEVELAND BOOM.

His Friends Say He Meets All Requirements of the Situation.

New York Letter in Philadelphia Ledger. Editor St. Clair McKelway's declaration in the Brooklyn Eagle yesterday for Grover Cleveland for President has stimulated discussion of possible candidates for the Democratic nomination. Prominent politicians still refrain from committing themselves at so early a date, and Mr. Cleveland's friends are loath to talk upon the subject, as they are not at all sure how the ex-President himself would regard the launching of a boom for him for the high office he has twice filled. But they aver enthusiastically that Mr. Cleveland meets all the requirements of the situation, and, apart from the machine and its influences. there is unquestionably a deep-rooted sentiment here in favor of the nomination of the Sage of Princeton. Mr. McKelway's pronouncement is, of course, treated in a divergent manner by the press of the city. but more than one journal here will cordially "second the nomination" made the Eagle. The Commercial Advertiser, which is stanchly Republican, says this afternoon that it is necessary to the best welfare of the country that there be a sound and healthy opposition party, and "there will be a hearty agreement upon one point, and that is that Mr. Cleveland's nomination by the Democratic party wou be a cause for national congratulation. Mr. Cleveland embodies to-day, as he did when he was at the head of his party, virtually all the moral force it possesses. In view of the nomination of Mr. Cleveland by the Eagle, a brief review of his political battles as far as this tSate is concerned may be of interest. Three times he carried New York State-once for Gov-ernor and twice for President-and he lost it once for President. His gubernaterial candidacy was in 1882, when he carried the State against his Republican opponent. Folger, by a plurality of 192,854 in a total vote of 915,539. In his first candidacy for President, in 1884, Mr. Cleveland carried the State against James G. Blaine by a vote of 563,048, against 562,001, a plurality of 1,047. He lost the State in 1888 by 14,373 In his last candidacy for President Mr. Cleveland defeated Mr. Harrison, the vote being 654,908 to 609,459, a plurality of 45,449. When Mr. Cleveland ran for Governor in 1882 his plurality in Kings county was 29,488; in New York county, 77,129; in Queens county, 4,968. His plurality in Kings county was 13,000 more in round numbers than was cast for the Democratic candidate for Governor last year, which was a landslide year, in the city, and it is the largest plur-ality ever cast in the county for any candi-
